

ZEEO

Born in Rome and based in Milan, Zeeo is an Italian DJ, producer, musician and radio host whose career spans more than two decades within the international club scene.

Passionate about House Music and club culture since the late 1990s, he has developed a versatile musical identity that moves naturally between House, Deep House, Tech House, Funky House and Afro House. His productions are driven by groove, musicality and a constant desire to explore new sounds while remaining connected to the roots of house music.

Over the years, Zeeo has released music under different aliases and collaborated on a variety of projects, building a reputation as both a producer and performer with a deep understanding of the dancefloor. His broad musical background and experience as a musician continue to shape a sound that balances underground influences with contemporary club energy.

Alongside his activity as a DJ and producer, Zeeo is part of Radio 105, one of Italy's leading national radio networks, where he shares his passion for music with a wide audience every day.

Whether in the studio, on the radio or behind the decks, Zeeo continues to bring experience, creativity and authenticity to every project, staying true to the values that have guided his musical journey from the very beginning.
